Larger Profits Derived From Small Farms Well Cultivated.

It matters not whether the farmer buys his labor, or performs it himself, it must be paid for. He will not consider himself satisfied unless he is remunerated for every hour's time he devotes to the working of a crop, or on any special plot of ground. But, as a rule, farmers are prone to give more work on some locations than is necessary under certain conditions. It is a waste of time and labor to cultivate two acres if a larger crop can be secured, proportionately, on one. One acre may not support a farmer, but the rule is applicable to large areas. He should not cultivate 50 acres if he can secure better results from 25. It will pay him to realize 75 bushels of wheat per acre, from 25 acres, while he may lose money if he secures 50 bushels of corn or 20 bushels of wheat per acre, from 50 acres. It is not the gross amount of produce he receives that pays, but the net. It requires more time to spread a given amount of manure over two acres than upon one, and so far as cultivation is concerned, the cost is double. Now, all this extra work may be thrown away if the farmer can, by lessening the area, devote more time and attention to the smaller space. There will be less hurry, more thorough cultivation, greater facility in harvesting, fewer laborers and better condition of working stock. It is in the correct application of labor that the profits are derived. It may be wasted or misapplied, and thus cause bankruptcy instead of prosperity.

Poultry Notes.

Canker may come from filthy, slime covered water vessels. It is easier avoided than cured.

Ducks and geese should have plenty of bedding. Leaves or clean straw make good material.

Hatch fall chickens if you have ample house and shed room to protect them from storms; otherwise, don't.

Dusting dirt should now be barrelled for winter use while easily obtained and dry. Lay in a plentiful supply.

Lining nests with green tansy is said to be a good preventive of chicken lice. Change every week or ten days.

A good tonic for moulting fowls is made by soaking rusty nails in cider or vinegar and mixing their food with it.

Whitewash your coops now before cold weather comes. Mix plenty of carbolic acid in the whitewash and put on thick.

Care of Lamps.

Boil very dirty neglected burners in soda and water.

Soak new wicks in vinegar and dry thoroughly before putting in the burner.

Clean every bit of the burner with rag dipped in kerosene and polish it dry and bright.

Never touch the chimney of a lamp with water. A few drops of kerosene oil will remove the smoke and dimness, and a rub with soft flannel or chamois skin will result in a clear polish.

Do not let a lamp burn after the oil is exhausted and do not turn it down. Nearly the same amount of oil is consumed as when the flame is full, what is not burned passing off in the form of gas, which is often smelled when entering a room where the lamp has been turned low.

Representative From South Africa Studying Tobacco Raising.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 13.—Alton Draxel, of South Africa, who is in this country investigating the methods of raising tobacco and other agricultural products, is now in this city studying the methods at the experimental station at Kentucky State College. While here Mr. Draxel secured several pounds of Burley seed, Virginia bright seed, Clarksville district seed and also several bushels of Bluegrass seed, which will be used as experiments in his country. He will spend six weeks in this country perfecting his studies in the cultivation of tobacco.

To Cook Eggs.

To cook eggs in the shell through evenly put them into a deep pan, cover them with boiling water and let them stand for ten minutes or more where the water will keep just below boiling point. This prevents the albumen from coagulating, but jellies both whites and yolk, making the egg more appetizing in appearance than at the ordinary "soft boiled" stage. It is at the same time easy of digestion.

Last year England imported 219,000 tons of butter. The United States exported about 4,000 tons. These facts leave a fair inference that England offers an open market for more than 50 times as much butter as we are in the habit of exporting. England's purchases of this article from foreign countries and from her colonies amount to about $100,000,000 a year. Our export sales of it approximate $1,500,000. England purchased last year about 136,000 tons of cheese. Our total exports were in the vicinity of 8,000 tons, worth about $2,250,000. Canada, whom we are prone to regard as an economic inferior, exported ten times as much as we did. This leaves a fair inference that there is in England alone a possible market for some $40,000,000 worth of cheese every year.

There is an item of expense in farming which is rarely taken note of in estimating the cost of a crop, either by the buyer or the seller. It is the drain upon the stored fertilizing elements of the soil, the wear and tear, the expenditure of capital which must be replaced each year in some way, or there will be progressive depletion and ultimate sterility. Few farmers realize that in selling a ton of corn, they are selling particles of the land which at market price will cost $6.80; in selling a ton of oats, $7.80; in a ton of wheat, $9; in a ton of timothy hay, $5.20. These are items which should be considered in ascertaining the cost and price.

A certain grower of strawberry plants says that he expects within ten years to grow strawberries as large as pineapples. We do not know how small he has seen pineapples, but we have seen watermelons that were not as large as some strawberries. But, seriously, we think the size of the berries we now see is sufficient, and hope some one will try to improve the quality instead of trying to increase the size. If we have got to slice our strawberries to eat them, it will seem to be a nuisance. And most of the very large varieties we have seen were not equal in flavor to the smaller sorts.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Farmers must assume responsibility in conducting their business. They need not fear the outcome if they will use common sense and give strict attention to business.

KENTUCKY WINS MANY PRIZES AT WORLDS FAIR.

Two Silver Medals Come to Hopkins County Coal Operators.

SIX GRAND PRIZES AND THIRTY-FIVE GOLD MEDALS.

The glorious result for Kentucky of the finding of the International Jury of Awards at the World's Fair is announced as follows:

Six grand prizes, Thirty-five gold medals, Fifty-three silver medals, Ninety-two bronze medals.

This great list of 186 awards is a distinct surprise to the most sanguine of those Kentuckians who were officially and intimately connected with work of displaying Kentucky's fine resources to the World at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

The State of Kentucky was given two grand prizes, one on collective exhibits of coal, coke, clays, petroleum, stone, etc.; the other on tobacco, collective exhibits. The other four grand prizes were awarded tobacco exhibits of individuals and firms.

Two of the silver medals awarded in the mineral section came to Hopkins county coal operators. The St. Bernard Mining Co. gets a silver medal on coal and coke, and the Reinecke Coal Co. gets a silver medal on the model of its mining plant exhibited at the Fair. This model was made by a Madisonville mechanic and attracted considerable attention in the mines building at the Fair.

The complete list of awards in the mineral section was a grand prize, two gold medals, ten silvers and five bronzes, as follows:

State of Kentucky, collective exhibit of coal, coke, clays, petroleum, stone, etc., grand prize.

State of Kentucky, clay arch and collective exhibit of clays, gold medal.

State of Kentucky, collective exhibit of petroleum—crude oil and bituminous, silver medal.

Kentucky Block Cannel Coal Co., Cannel City, cannel coal arch, gold medal.

Northern Coal and Coke Co., Ashland, section of coal and samples of coke, silver medal.

State of Kentucky, collective exhibit of mineral waters, silver medal.

Blue Lick Springs Co., Blue Lick Springs, mineral waters, silver medal.

Blue & Nunn, Marion, lead, zinc and flourspar, silver medal.

American Standard Asphalt Co., Louisville, asphalt, silver medal.

Kentucky Flourspar Co., Marion, flourspar, silver medal.

Bedford-Bowling Green Stone Co., Bowling Green, stone arch, silver medal.

Mountain Lead, Zinc and Flourspar Co., Paducah, lead, zinc and flourspar, bronze medal.

The Newport Sand Bank Co., Newport, sands, bronze medal.

The Rowan County Freestone Co., Farmers, freestone for building, bronze medal.

Louisville Fire Brick Works, Louisville, clay and fire brick, bronze medal.

The Sweeney Quarry Co., Bowling Green, limestone fence, bronze medal.

St. Bernard Mining Co., Earlington, coal and coke, silver medal.

Reinecke Coal Co., Madisonville, model of coal mine, silver medal.

The awards are divided among the various sections as follows: Tobacco, 49; Agriculture, 75; Mineral, 18; Forestry, 23; Education, 15; Whiskey, 6. The State did not make a whiskey exhibit and these last awards were made to distillers.

Hopkins county is not in the list of awards on anything except its coal and coke.

The nearest winning exhibits in tobacco and agricultural products were from Hopkinsville, Henderson and Owensboro. Calhoun gets a bronze on corn and Sturgis on clover.

The grasses and clover sent by the St. Bernard Mining Company for exhibit were almost ruined by careless freight handlers at the Fair before they were delivered at the agricultural building. Such exhibits by that company have captured medals formerly at Chicago, Atlanta and Nashville.

There was only one exhibit from Hopkins county in the Forestry building, that made by Mr. B. J. No. Atkinson, of this place, with his 121 varieties of native woods made up into picture frames, which helped to embellish the excellent display made by the State in that department.

 An effort was made from St. Louis to get Mr. Atkinson to file the necessary papers to put him in line for a gold medal on this collection, but he was absent from home at the time and the papers could not be filed in time after his return.

There were only three Kentuckians on the jury of awards but Kentucky stands far up in the lead among the states in the number and character of these awards. It was great day when the Kentucky Press took up the question and made it possible for Kentucky to go to the Fair, and another great day when the Kentucky Legislature, having been forced to a realization of public sentiment, made the appropriation necessary to supplement the funds already raised to that end.

"A GIRL FROM DIXIE."

"A Girl From Dixie" opened a return engagement at the Grand opera house yesterday, and a large audience witnessed the Shubert production. This musical comedy played a week's engagement at the Grand the early part of September, and was popular with the patrons of that house. There has been no change in the cast or the music. Genevieve Day still takes the part of Kitty Calbert and is quite as captivating as ever in spite of the false rumor of her marriage. D. L. Don, the chief comedian, was a decided favorite with the audience last night.—Denver Post.

"A Girl From Dixie" will be the bill at Morton's Theatre Oct. 28.

VALUE OF THE COTTON CROP

Some Figures Showing the Enormous Extent of the Industry.

Extracts From an Address by President Poole of the Cotton States Commissioners.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 15.—President R. H. Poole of the Association of Cotton States Commissioners of Agriculture, in an address delivered before that body, in session here, said in part: "The value of the product which we have come to talk about to-day and devise ways and means to extend and promote its planting and cultivation, with a yield of ten million and a half bales, reaches the enormous sum of $412,403,659; besides the sea island crop of 78,638 bales, representing $5,954,707; the immense and astounding total of $418,358,366."

Mr. Poole told of the demand for cotton, saying the supply is not equal to the demand. Continuing, he said: "The planter is now independent at last, and he can make cotton the money crop, and after raising all provision crops for home consumption and to spare, he can make as much cotton as he chooses and hold it for fair and just prices."

Speaking of the price of cotton this year, President Poole said: "The prices have been fair from the beginning, and the crop will be marketed at the present rate, ten cents, or over."

He said, despite the boll weevil in Texas, where it was feared the production of the staple would be well nigh stopped or retarded to a ruinous extent, the yield will be larger than last year.

REPORT OF CENSUS BUREAU

The Report Shows a Total of 271,169 Employees in the Executive Civil Service of United States.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The census bureau Friday issued a report on the executive civil service of the United States, showing a total of 271,169 employees, embracing all persons employed in the executive branches of the federal government, except enlisted men in military and naval branches. This aggregate embraces 120,788 employees not included in the report made by the heads of the executive departments. Of these 120,788, 21,170 were exempt from examination under the civil service rules. The exempt list includes 74,160 postmasters, 18,855 employees at non-free delivery post offices, and over 18,000 employees at navy yards and stations, appointed under navy yard regulations. The post office and treasury departments give employment to three-fourths of the executive civil service. In the departments and independent offices in Washington the average annual salary is given as $1,072, average age of employees 41, and average period of service ten years.

MICHIGAN CONVICTS ESCAPE

Force of Prison Officials Are Now Pursuing the Fleeing Fugitives.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 17.—Robin Terry, James McGee, Mont Harding and Barry A. Gilbert, convicts at the state penitentiary, escaped from that institution Sunday night. They, with two others, had been detailed to paint a smokestack. Choosing a moment when the guard was not looking, they stole a ladder from the tool house, placed it against the north wall and dropped down outside. Twenty or thirty of the prison officials are pursuing the fugitives.
